Walker/San Antonio Express-News SAN ANTONIO — Thousands of animals, foods and wines will fill the Hall of Perfumes and Flavors at the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo this month, and a new exhibition space, the National Food Wine & Culture Center, will help showcase the city's massive food and beverage industry. The district's new cultural center, on the grounds of the stately SAHNEX complex, is a three-level, 180,000-square-foot space that will offer indoor and outdoor venues for live concerts, private events and festivals. "We think the theme of the center is regional and global," said Rebecca Phillips, the center's project manager. "We wanted to push the boundaries." The National Food Wine & Culture Center will feature an indoor tasting room, a restaurant for sit-down meals, two outdoor patios and a 100-seat screening room. Visitors will walk through a main hall — showcasing the nation
