The Bottom Line A quality image-editing tool can be more valuable than a camera. Unfortunately, many people will buy a cheap, basic camera with bad optics, an unfamiliar lens, and no flash. Instead, they buy a computer with a camera that allows them to not take a picture at all. A decent image editing program can give you tools that will make your photography better.

My journey to becoming a positive person As you know, I've always been a private person. I don't like to share a lot of personal information about myself. I'm pretty sure that you don't have anything in common with me, but you do know that I'm a Christian. I also have a lot of friends who like to share a lot of information about themselves. Then there are those who are very candid with their friends, but not to strangers. And there are those who have no friends at all. I'm a mix of all of that, and I have changed a lot over the years. I used to be more open, and now I am less so. There are reasons behind this, but they are stories for another time. The thing I'm writing this for is to let you all know something about me. I'm still the same person I've been all along, but it's as though I am growing through some sort of experience. Here is what I've been doing. Love. I have a new idea about love. And this idea has been growing in my heart for some time, now. I think I finally got it. A new idea of love has been in the process of being built for the last three years. I have loved God more than anything in my life. I have loved people, many people, and I have loved myself. And all of this time, my idea of love has been to reach out to others with the love God has for me. I love to talk about God, and if you have been around here before, you know that I'm sharing a lot with you. However, this idea has never been shared about me, not with you, not with many people. But now I'm sharing it with you. I am beginning to love myself more than God, and that is good, because He has been the only one who has loved me the way He should have. Now, if God loves me, and He does, why would He send me to do certain things in my life? Would He not have loved me, if He wanted me to do different things? I was wrong. In the end, you may not know me. You don't have to. You can love me, because I've become more than my own self. I
