Well my problem is that when I click on the review button, a frame opens. and inside this frame there is a button also. this button must open a frame of its own. Where can I define this frame and where should I define my button for it to work? A: Assuming this is a site you are building, you just need to register the frame and show it in your page. The example below uses jquery for simplicity. Review c6a93da74d
