The upgrade for CyberLink PhotoDirector 14.1 brings access to a number of new and expanded features. For example, you can now use an online storage service for your photos. You can even adjust the effects of your photos on the spot. The company says the new version also offers enhanced undo, which allows users to reverse their last actions. It comes with a few other tweaks, such as simpler interfaces and better support for MacOS Catalina. The software runs on a wide variety of operating systems, including macOS, Windows, and Linux. If your motivation for upgrading is to take advantage of new features, you have three good options. You can use the new version free for 90 days, purchase an annual subscription, or pay for a one-off monthly, annual, or three-year license. A perpetual, unlimited license is another, pricier option. The standard free version is ad-supported but is free to use. Once you try it, you'll see why it's popular. You can also get more storage space for your photos and videos, including up to 100GB with the Pro version for $4.99 a month. A pro photo editor and organizer is also available. CyberLink touts a number of new features, including the ability to organize your media with custom labels and color tags, create custom shortcuts, and edit your photos and videos on the go. A new instant upload feature lets you share photos and videos online. It supports a wide variety of video formats, including DV, XAVC, AVCHD, MPEG-4, and Apple ProRes, in addition to mp4, WMV, and mov
