
Propellerhead The Salazar Brothers Reggaeton REFILL 1

the instrument collection of reggaeton refill includes a variety of different latin percussion instruments, such as the lava drums, congas, guiro and timbales, amongst others. included are also a couple of other instruments, such as a shaker, a marimba and a range of other percussion instruments including a puerto rican drum kit. one of the main features of reggaeton refill is that the sound collection is sorted by genre and style, allowing users to quickly navigate to the sounds they need. with the sound categorization users can easily find that perfect percussion sound for their song with a simple click of a mouse. tired of the same old beats and percussion loops? the reggaeton refill offers a variety of dancehall-style drum loops. with its two exclusive rex2 drum loops, reggaeton refill gives you the flexibility to play drums from any style. with drum loop category specific play lists, its the perfect tool for both new producers and seasoned veterans of the hip-hop and r&b genres. propellerhead's reggaeton refill is a collection of drum loops and percussion loops, designed to suit the sounds of reggaeton and latin music. with a wide range of acoustic and electronic drum kits, the plug-in also includes percussion loops and music loops. although the three brothers have made a name for themselves with their latin/reggae sound, they have been noted for their use of styles from many different cultures and musical styles. while there are influences from and between latin and reggae music, the reggaeton refill should not be considered to fall under either category. the sound is a unique blend of latin and reggae that has been around for some time. the trio mixes a variety of percussion styles from reggae, latin, hip-hop and spanish. some elements of reggae can be heard in the fusion, and the latin element is clearly present in the music as well. overlaying all of these styles together make for some very fresh, very funky new music, and with the addition of the reggaeton refill, the individual songs in this sample pack are fun and will inspire you to make some new music.

the reason 10.1 update was released may 8, 2018 and included new features to the sdk (system development kit) that allow rack extension developers to create new player devices introduced in reason version 9. prior to this, the only player devices available were those developed by propellerhead themselves. the update also included a new player device by propellerhead as well as an update to the europa synth that allows audio samples to be used as wavetables. there are a number of plugins and vst instruments that are designed specifically for this genre of music. many of these are available in reason and other music creation software. some of these plugins may be used to create a unique sound or style. however, they are often called out of context, and are not exclusively used for reggaeton. these are some of the plugins that are commonly associated with reggaeton: icicle puffy push the rapists bruker reggaeton reggaeton has a large influence on the sound of many other latin genres, most notably the latin american music of puerto rico. more specifically, hip-hop is a strong influence, having borrowed a lot from reggae and jazz. a variety of latin american music genres have also been influenced by reggaeton, most notably the hip hop-influenced salsa and merengue. the various styles of reggaeton can be traced back to the late 1980s, but the genre was not popularized until the early 1990s. this refill features over 360 megabytes of samples, loops and comes with 220 drum & percussion rex files, 75 nn-xt sampler patches in categories like drums, fx, stabs, vinyl fx, vocals and more including midi files and 20 song starter demo tracks. it is a great toolbox for reason users looking for that reggaeton sound.
