What's New In?

Heatsoft Automatic Synchronizer is a lightweight piece of software designed to help you create automatic tasks for backups, synchronization, replication or mirroring of important files on various storage media or between two computers in the same network. Allows you to set up an automatic task to the letter The app comes with a clean and user-friendly interface that is unlikely to give you any troubles, regardless of your experience with similar tools. You can get started by creating tasks, an operation that you can complete smoothly by following the Job Wizard tab. After you provide a suitable name for the task, you can proceed to select the folders that should be monitored or compared. In the File Filters tab, you can specify the types of documents that should be watched and those to be excluded. While you have standard date, attribute and size filters, you can create presets that you can integrate into your other tasks. In case you want to synchronize the data, then you can specify whether the sync should occur in real time and the rules about the files to be updated. If necessary, you can configure the app to alert you about modifications in files based on size, timestamp or attributes. A handy utility for anyone working with lots of documents and data A further noteworthy feature of the program is the flexible scheduler, an option that lets you configure any significant task based on your work plan. Therefore, not only can you ensure that the files you edit are synchronized across all devices in the network, but that they are also safely stored thanks to a weekly or monthly backup. In the eventuality that you are creating and editing dozens of documents on a daily basis and you want to make sure that they are safe from various causes that can lead to data loss, then perhaps Heatsoft Automatic Synchronizer could come in handy.
