Keymacro is an easy to use password recovery program designed for Windows users. It is designed to recover lost usernames and passwords without a hitch. This is the first of its kind that can recover hidden passwords, such as HTTP basic authentication based or autocomplete based passwords, within minutes, without any changes or modifications being made to the system. The program works with any password type, including autocomplete passwords, HTTP basic authentication based passwords, registry-based passwords, cached passwords, HTML forms, network protocols, and more. For example, once the program has been installed and activated, you can quickly recover lost login information using just a few easy steps. Step 1: Launch Keymacro and click the "Start Password Recovery" button. Step 2: Once you have selected the URL or domain in the list, a short list of possible usernames will appear. Then, you have to select the one you want to recover the password for. Step 3: Enter the username into the appropriate field. And if you've forgotten the username or password, you will be prompted to enter a new one. Step 4: Finally, the program will request you to enter a new password that the program will use to recover the forgotten password. All that remains now is for you to click the "Save Password to HDD" button. However, even though Keymacro is able to recover many types of lost passwords, it cannot be used with any of the following websites or file types: · Websites that have the HTTP Basic Authentication capability. · Websites that are using the Digest authentication protocol. · Websites that have cookies. · Websites that use the Page Creation UserID or Viewer ID. · Websites that have a page form password or a cookie password. · Websites that have WebDAV. · Websites that have flash cookies. · Websites that have a hidden password. · Websites that have a password form. · Websites that have a WAP username and password. · Websites that use other web forms. · Websites that use other login methods. · Websites that have a Java applet. · Websites that have multiple forms or that use tokens. · Websites that have an HTML form with a Hidden Password. · Websites that have an HTML form with a Page Creation UserID or a Viewer ID. · Websites that 2edc1e01e8

Montreal Mayor Denis Coderre has announced that he will remove a plaque honouring victims of the St. Joseph residential school in Ste-Anne-de-Bellevue, Que., during the weekend. The plaque, erected in 1988 by the former provincial government and, most recently, the current federal government, is decorated with images of French-Canadian children and indigenous people from the St. Joseph school. "I'm very sensitive to the context, but I believe the removal of the plaque will be a good gesture," Coderre told the Montreal Gazette in an interview Wednesday. The mayors of the city of Montreal, West Island and Laurentians declined to join Coderre's decision. Coderre said he had consulted the Assembly of First Nations (AFN), which has opposed the removal of the plaque, but the AFN had not responded by the time he made his announcement. Coderre said he would be "forced to
