The logic of concepts is explored in relation to an in depth analysis of attitudes towards children with Down's syndrome. Using the framework of properties of objects the article uses Gill (1977) and Lofland (1978) to explore the family's attitudes. The findings are presented in terms of six factors of the fundamental logic of concepts, which are distinct from the logic of categorization. The family's perspective on children with Down's syndrome is examined within this framework, to give a coherent account of their attitudes towards the condition. Q: how can I perform long running task in c# ConsoleApplication I have a main function that enters a loop. When a button is pressed, a long running task should be triggered that renders a video. The problem is that the video rendering seems to stop the thread immediately. Here is the code of the main function: static void Main(string[] args) { Console.WriteLine("*****"); Console.WriteLine("Test me"); Console.WriteLine("*****"); int refreshRate = 15; for (int i = 0; i < refreshRate; i++) { Thread.Sleep(10); Console.WriteLine(i); } Console.WriteLine("End"); Console.WriteLine("Press enter to exit"); Console.ReadLine(); } And the button click function: static void Button_Click(object sender, RoutedEventArgs e) { Image source = new BitmapImage(new Uri("", UriKind.Absolute));
